

Toxic plants for goats

Pure Passions Farm

Poison hemlock

Oleander

Rhododendron

Milkweed

Lupine

White snakeroot

Virginia creeper

Nighthshade

Lily of the valley

Boxwood

Curly dock

Red root pigweed

How to Spot the Difference

Queen Anne's Lace

Stem grows
from 2'-3'

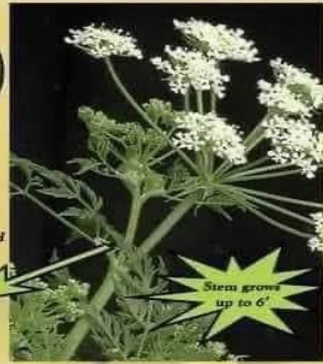

Hairy Stem

Purple Spotted
Stem

Poison Hemlock

Stem grows
up to 6'

Protect Yourself!

Thank you so much for considering our goats for your weed problems.

If you have any of these plants on your property we may have to make some accommodations.

We appreciate you viewing some of the toxic plants for goats as their health and safety is important to us.